

Now Design: Sunburst Mirrors

BY JANET RAASCH
STYLING BY PAM STASNEY
PAMSTASNEYSSTYLE.COM

The sunburst/starburst mirror trend continues with greater style choices, from Art Deco to antique to eco-friendly versions made from reclaimed materials. "Sunburst mirrors are very versatile and are easily placed in any room in your home," says Tara Wilke of McNabb & Risley, Thiensville. "I think these mirrors are a great way to add style and glamour to any setting."

Here are some of our favorites from local retailers.

Mixed Media: 47-inch hand-carved wooden sunburst mirror with hand-applied silver leaf. McNabb & Risley, Thiensville

Looks like cast metal, but it's made of wood.

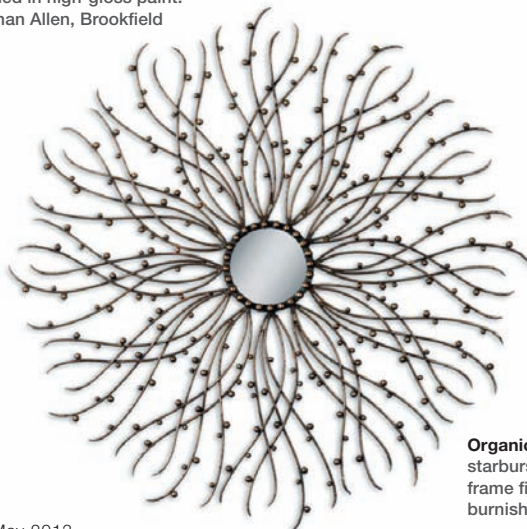

White Hot: 20-inch white sunburst mirror cast from an antique and finished in high-gloss paint. Ethan Allen, Brookfield

The sun and all its forms are renowned symbols of Louis XIV, France's famed "Sun King."

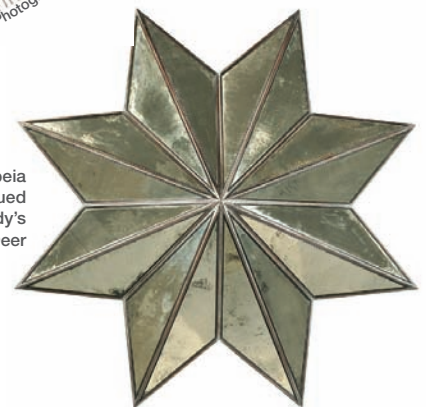

Midcentury Mod: 30-inch starburst wall mirror made of steel spring wire with brass powdercoat finish. Crate & Barrel, Wauwatosa

(Photograph courtesy of Crate & Barrel)

Organic Edge: 46-inch decorative convex starburst mirror with hand-forged metal frame finished in antiqued gold leaf with burnished edges. McNabb & Risley

Original Art Deco: 66-inch Cassiopeia silver leaf star mirror with antiqued mirror plates in relief. Peabody's Interiors, Brown Deer